100 YEARS MILLE MIGLIA

CELEBRATING THE WORLD'S GREATEST ROAD RACE

The Mille Miglia, or 'thousand miles', is one of the most iconic events in motorsport history. Between 1927 and 1957, this Italian long-distance race was the ultimate challenge for man and machine. From Brescia to Rome and back, the route led over public roads through historic cities, mountain passes, and picturesque landscapes. A backdrop where speed, innovation, and elegance came together. Although the original race ended in 1957, the Mille Miglia name lives on to this day. In 2027, it will be exactly 100 years since the first edition was held.

The idea for the Mille Miglia originated in 1926 in Brescia, where a group of motorsport enthusiasts wanted to organize a race that would put Italy on the map. The first edition took place in 1927 with 77 participating cars and grew into one of the most important long-distance races for Gran Turismo cars. Soon, the Mille Miglia became more than just a race: it offered leading car brands like Ferrari, Alfa Romeo, Mercedes-Benz, and Maserati a platform to present their most forward-thinking creations, while drivers pushed the boundaries of performance and reliability. Names like Stirling Moss, Tazio Nuvolari, and Alberto Ascari still capture the imagination today. These legendary drivers made history by winning the Mille Miglia and are among the greatest icons motorsport has ever produced.

During this edition of InterClassics Maastricht, we pay tribute to this special race. Discover the cars, stories, and people that made the Mille Miglia a global icon, and experience the atmosphere of an era when extraordinary cars, driven racers, and Italian elegance set the tone.
